

My Name is

Adopting a positive attitude helps me see new solutions

All things are difficult until they are easy.

It's not a mistake, it's a lesson

I can't do it YET, but I can keep trying.

I can improve by working hard.

Activity guide to introduce growth mindset to your child

1. Personalize even more the character

Invite your child to write their name on the printable. You can also personalize the child in the poster even more by adding glasses (if the child has some), adding hair accessories, etc... Be creative!

2. Check the bubbles

Show the printable to your child and read the bubbles together. Think about a time when your child practiced a growth mindset, then check the bubbles they already practiced in the past.

- Example: "Let's think about a time when you worked really hard on something. Do you remember when you built a fort and it collapsed? What did you do? You tried again and worked hard to make it stand, and you succeeded! You already proved that you can improve by working hard! Let's check this bubble!"
- If all the bubbles are not checked, that's great! During the next few days, help your child find when they adopted a growth mindset and encourage them to do it even more!

3. Complete the empty bubble

Pick an affirmation that inspires you and copy it in the empty bubble. Here are some ideas

- Mistakes are a chance to learn
- I can grow my brain by learning new things
- I can do hard things
- I can learn by trying over and over
- Several solutions might resolve a problem
- If I can't do it YET, and I can try again
- New challenges are a chance to learn
- I strive to do my best
- I will persist and try again
- I am open to new ideas
- I will try new things today!
- Keep trying! Keep learning!
- I can make a difference
- I will help others today!

4. Add mindset discussions to your routine! Notice it, model it and talk about it!

- Example of conversation starter: « What did you learn today? », « What challenge did you face? », « Is there something you could have improved? », « What mistake did you make? »,
- Example of modeling: « Today I tried working on a new subject at work that I didn't know. I asked some colleagues to help me. Now I'm excited to learn even more! »
